

What are Special Educational Need and Disabilities needs?

A person has SEN if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her. At compulsory school age this means he or she has a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others the same age, or, has a disability which prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools.

Taken from 2014 SEN Code of Practice: 0 to 25 Years – Introduction xiii and xiv

What does it mean if my child is on the SEND Register?

Placing a child on the SEND register is simply a way of monitoring and tracking the progress they make socially, academically or physically, with closer scrutiny. Teachers and staff involved in teaching your child can then ensure the provision in place is enabling your child to progress and is relevant to their needs.

Who do I contact if I'm concerned about my child's learning?

Please contact your child's class teacher if you have a concern with regard to your child's learning.
