Co-Headteachers' Message

We have definitely settled back into the routine of school, and this week it was wonderful to welcome so many of you into your child's class as part of our Meet the Teacher events. We hope you found the opportunity helpful. We know that many of the children take real pride in showing you around their classrooms, pointing out where they sit, where they choose their books, and sharing some of their very first pieces of work of the academic year.

This week also marked the start of our parent tours for prospective Reception families joining us next year. No sooner have our newest Reception children begun than it is time to start thinking ahead to the next cohort. It is always a privilege to showcase all that Echelford has to offer. While fitting everything into a one-hour visit is no easy task, one thing that consistently stands out to our visitors is how engaged, polite, and welcoming our children are. Our new Reception pupils are no exception. Their purposeful play and warm interactions really impressed our visitors, which is a true credit to the Reception team for helping them transition so seamlessly into school life.

On Thursday, our first school trip of the year took place, which was a rescheduled visit to Windsor Castle for Year 4 after extreme heat postponed it back in July. The children had a fantastic time exploring the castle and taking part in their historical workshops, all while enjoying much cooler weather.

On Wednesday, we were treated to our first class assembly of the year. Well done to 6W, who presented a wonderful performance inspired by their World War II topic. They helped us understand what life for an evacuated child might have been like, leaving their homes and families behind. While such events are difficult to imagine, we know that conflict still impacts many children in similar ways around the world today. Class assemblies are always a highlight of our week, providing the children with a fantastic opportunity to collaborate, share their learning, and showcase their growing oracy skills. We know how much parents enjoy supporting their children at these events, and we look forward to 5B taking the stage next week.

Staff News

We are delighted to share the wonderful news of the safe arrival of Mrs Summersett's baby daughter, Rosalie. We know you will join us in sending our warmest congratulations to Mrs Summersett and her husband as they adjust to their new life as a family of three.

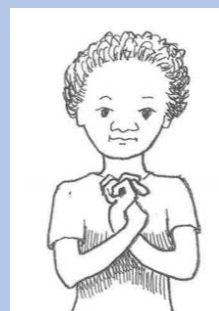

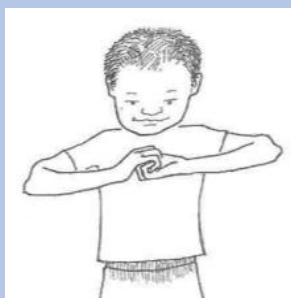

Inclusion Insights

At Echelford, we understand that children need to feel safe and calm to be able to learn. This is why we offer children spaces and time to regulate both in the classroom and around school. Every classroom has a Regulation Station, which is a calm space where a child can go to to have a short break. This might be a chance for some movement or calm time.

What can children do or use to help them to regulate:

Anywhere Body Breaks - These sensory exercises can be done where the child is sitting whilst listening to the learning, so children can continue taking part while regulating. Here are some examples:

Big Body Breaks - For children who need to move their whole body, they can move to their Regulation Station or outside of the classroom to complete some of the 'Big Body Break' movements, such as wall pushes, a crab walk or a superman pose.

Regulation Tools - We have a range of regulation tools in school that we allow children to use at their Regulation Station, during a regulation break, and occasionally at their learning space, if their teacher feels this will benefit them and not distract them or others. We do ask that regulation tools, eg. squishies, poppets, Needohs, are not brought in from home. If you feel your child needs to bring one in from home, to keep in their bag or desk, please speak to their class teacher or Mrs Willis, our Inclusion Lead, before allowing them to do so.

SEND Parent/Carer Forum

Our first SEND parent/carers forum of this year will be on Wednesday 7th October at 9-10am.

We would love to welcome any parents and carers who would like to share their views about how we support your children at school and hear from school and external speakers on various aspects of SEND support.

As children return to school, coughs, colds and other common illnesses often start to circulate. Community pharmacies can provide expert advice and treatment for a range of common conditions through the NHS Pharmacy First service, often without the need for a GP appointment. Pharmacy First can provide support and NHS funded treatment for:

- Earache (aged 1-17 years)
- Sore throat (aged 5 years and over)
- Infected insect bites (aged 1 year and over)
- Impetigo (aged 1 year and over)
- Sinusitis (aged 12 years and over)

Parents can speak to their local pharmacist for advice and, where clinically appropriate, NHS treatments.

UKHSA: guide to keeping kids healthy this school year for parents and carers

As children head back to school and we move closer to winter, now is a good time to familiarise ourselves with some of the common illnesses that can cause disruption to children's time in school during the colder months.

Teach good hygiene habits

Good hygiene stops infections from spreading, which means less disrupted learning time. Teach your child to wash their hands thoroughly with soap and warm water, use tissues for coughs and sneezes, and stay away from others when sick. Letting in fresh air can also reduce the spread of airborne viruses. UKHSAs e-bug resources for all ages can help you to explain and discuss hygiene habits and why they are important, to your child or teenager.

Know when to keep your child at home

The start of a new term is a good time to familiarise yourself with the symptoms of common illnesses: it's fine to send your child to school or nursery with a minor cough or common cold if they are otherwise well and do not have a high temperature. But if your child has a fever, they should stay home from school or nursery until they feel better, and the fever has resolved

If they have diarrhoea and/or vomiting, they should stay home while unwell and for at least 48 hours after their last episode. This is because common causes of diarrhoea and vomiting include norovirus, which can still be excreted for up to 48hrs after symptoms stop.

It is no longer recommended that children and young people are routinely tested for COVID-19 unless directed to by a health professional. But if your child has tested positive for COVID-19, they should try to stay at home and avoid contact with other people for 3 days after the day they took the test. Children and young people who usually go to school, college or childcare and who live with someone who has a positive COVID-19 test result should continue to attend as normal.

If your child has the symptoms of measles (outlined below) and has not had both doses of the MMR or MMRV vaccine, they should not attend school until 4 days after their rash started. This is because they will be highly infectious during this period.

The NHS has a useful guide to help parents decide whether a child is well enough to go to school, based on their symptoms.

Know how to spot the signs

There are other types of illnesses to watch out for at this time of year, including bacterial infections such as scarlet fever. Although we see cases throughout the year, they usually peak in the late winter and early spring. The most common symptoms of scarlet fever include sore throat, fever, swollen neck glands, a bumpy rash on the chest and tummy with a sandpaper-like feel, flushed cheeks and 'strawberry tongue'. If you suspect your child has scarlet fever, contact your local GP. Stay away from nursery or school for 24 hours after the first dose of antibiotics.

Since autumn 2023 there have been a number of major measles outbreaks in the West Midlands, North West and London, with sporadic cases across the country. In 2024, England saw the highest number of measles cases since 2012. Outbreaks have continued in 2025 and 2026. Measles can be a very serious disease for some children and tragically it can even cause fatalities. The initial symptoms of measles are similar to those for a cold (runny nose; a cough; sneezing; a high temperature; and red, sore, watery eyes). This is followed by white spots in the mouth a few days later, and by a rash on the face and body a few days after that. It's very unlikely to be measles if your child has had both doses of the MMR/MMRV vaccine or they've had measles before.

Viral infections such as chickenpox can also spread in schools and are highly contagious. An itchy, spotty rash is the main symptom of chickenpox. It can be anywhere on the body.

For more information please follow the link to the UKHSA blog.
